The Way Up is Down - Rethinking Leadership

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

1

In what ways have you unintentionally adopted the world's definition of wisdom or leadership? How might God be asking you to change your perspective?

2

Where in your life have you experienced the paradox that true wisdom and leadership grows downward, into deeper dependence on God?

3

What might it look like for you to lead “in weakness, fear, and much trembling” while trusting in the Spirit's power?

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

4

Where do you resist appearing weak, uncertain, or limited? How might God want to display His power through those places?

5

What gifts, insights, or strengths has the Spirit freely given you, and how are they meant to serve others rather than elevate yourself?

6

What accomplishments or credentials do you feel most tempted to “boast” in? How does remembering that everything is received change the way you view your gifts or influences?

7

Where do you sense tension between the world’s upward path and the kingdom’s downward path? What is the Spirit revealing about the direction of your leadership?

8

Where is God inviting you to surrender your reliance on expertise, accomplishment, or certainty? Be specific. What is one concrete shift you can make this week toward leading from dependence instead of self-sufficiency?
