The Success Paradox: How Becoming A Winner Can Lead To Losing At Life

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

1

How do we bring a healthy awareness of both the Success Paradox and the Power Paradox into the secular sphere, especially in the context of the workplace?

2

Where are the disproportions between what we consider most valuable and what we celebrate most passionately?

3

Is someone being better than you a good thing or a bad thing? Why?

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

4

In what practical ways do I regularly cultivate humility and vulnerability in my life? How do these help me with the Success and Power Paradoxes?

5

Do I live for love or from love? What impact does this have on our relationships?

6

Would you rather be better at something and lose or worse at it and win? (This can be relevant to both sports and business, or even family game night!)

7

Would you prefer a reward or a gift of exactly the same value? Why? What does this reveal about our hearts?

8

What do you want to do differently after this conversation? What's a tangible next step?
