Daisies are small flowers that grow in many places. You can see them in gardens, grass, or even on the roadside. They like sunlight and good soil. You can plant daisies in spring or autumn. First, put the seeds in soil. Water them carefully and give them light every day. Daisies do not need too much water. When the flowers fade, you can cut the old flowers. This helps new flowers grow.

Daisies are beautiful and simple. They have white petals and a yellow center. People like to put them in vases or use them in decorations.

Daisies also have meanings. They can show joy, love, or a new start. Because of this, many people give daisies as gifts to friends or family. Daisies are a symbol of hope and happiness.

Grammar Corner

“When the flowers fade, you can cut the old flowers.”

When the flowers fade = 時間子句

you can cut the old flowers = 主要子句

意思是「當花凋謝時，你可以剪掉舊花。」

這句話也可以把時間放在後面 (when 前面就不用逗點了):

You can cut the old flowers when the flowers fade.
