

MODULE 45

& More Important Distinctions

Synopsis for Case File 45, & More Important Distinctions

Read with your yin yang eyes. Look beyond the words; pay attention to the nuances; see the connections between different adjustments and methods; and let your Buddha nature see into the heart of Professor's teachings.

Here is a special note from Professor:

If your chi, or the chi of someone else, is not in tip-top shape, the best way to return to tip-top form is to practice the Heart Sutra Meditation. This is the best way to help.

You will find the previous Important Distinctions in Case File 35, The Embodiment of Two Realms and Case File 44, More Important Distinctions.

- The Facts, Just the Facts

Once again, read with your yin yang eyes. Look beyond the words; pay attention to the nuances; see the connections between different adjustments and methods; and let your Buddha nature see into the heart of Professor's teachings.

Here is one special note from Professor:

Practice the Heart Sutra daily. Our teachings are spiritual, and understanding requires practice. It is time to put the teachings into action spiritually. If you read the teachings, write the teachings, even explain the teachings, but do not practice the teachings, all will be mundane.
